

Satellite views of The Locker – 2011 to 2024

Satellite images © 2024 Maxar Technologies Provided by European Space Imaging

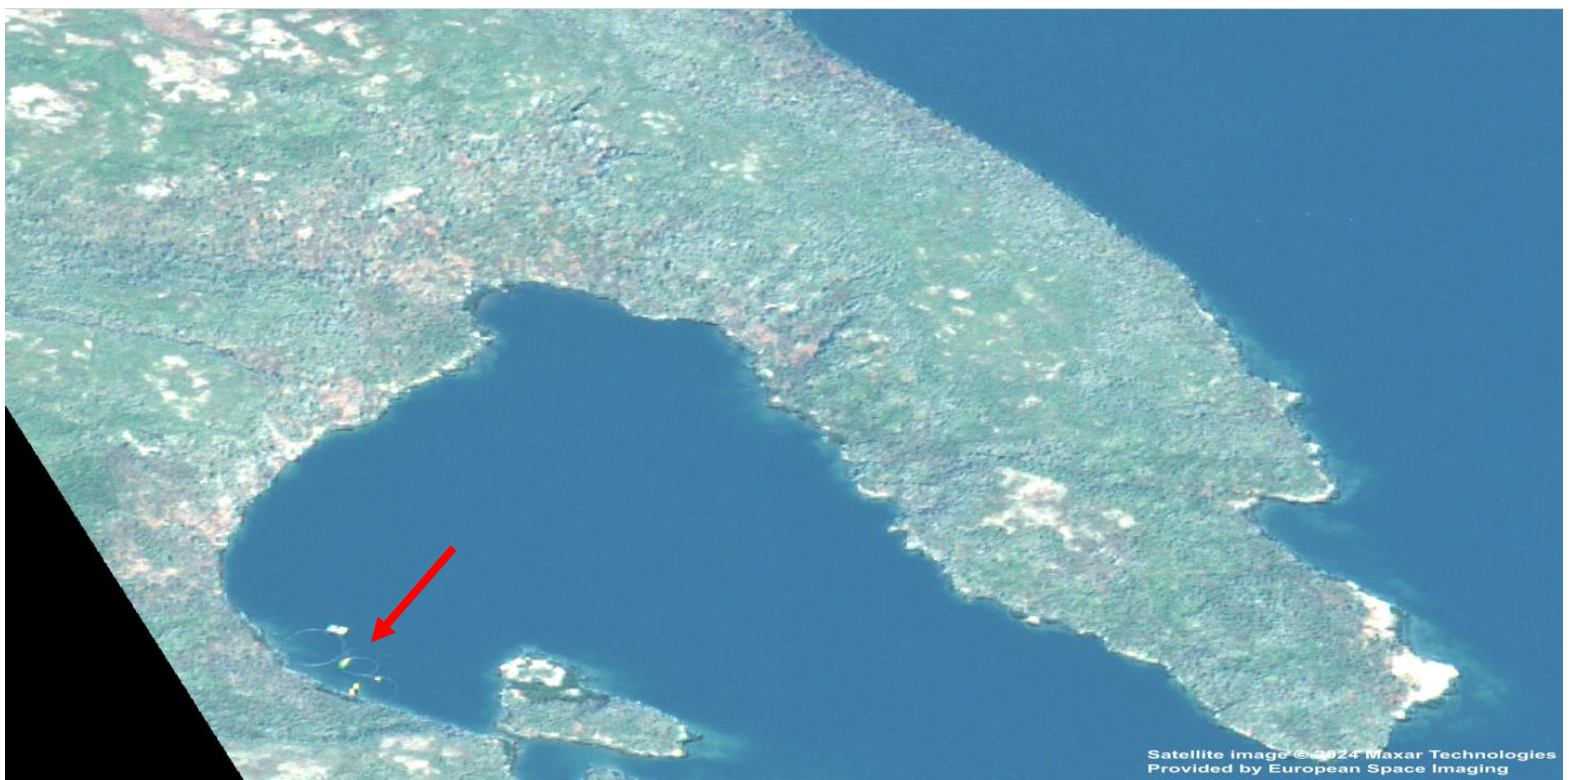

The Locker is a cove near Gaultois, N.L., where abandoned sea-cages and other salmon farming garbage has been dumped since at least 2011. The sea-cages pictured here are not in use. They have been deliberately hauled into the cove and abandoned, becoming marine plastic pollution. Location: 47°37'33"N 55°54'04"W

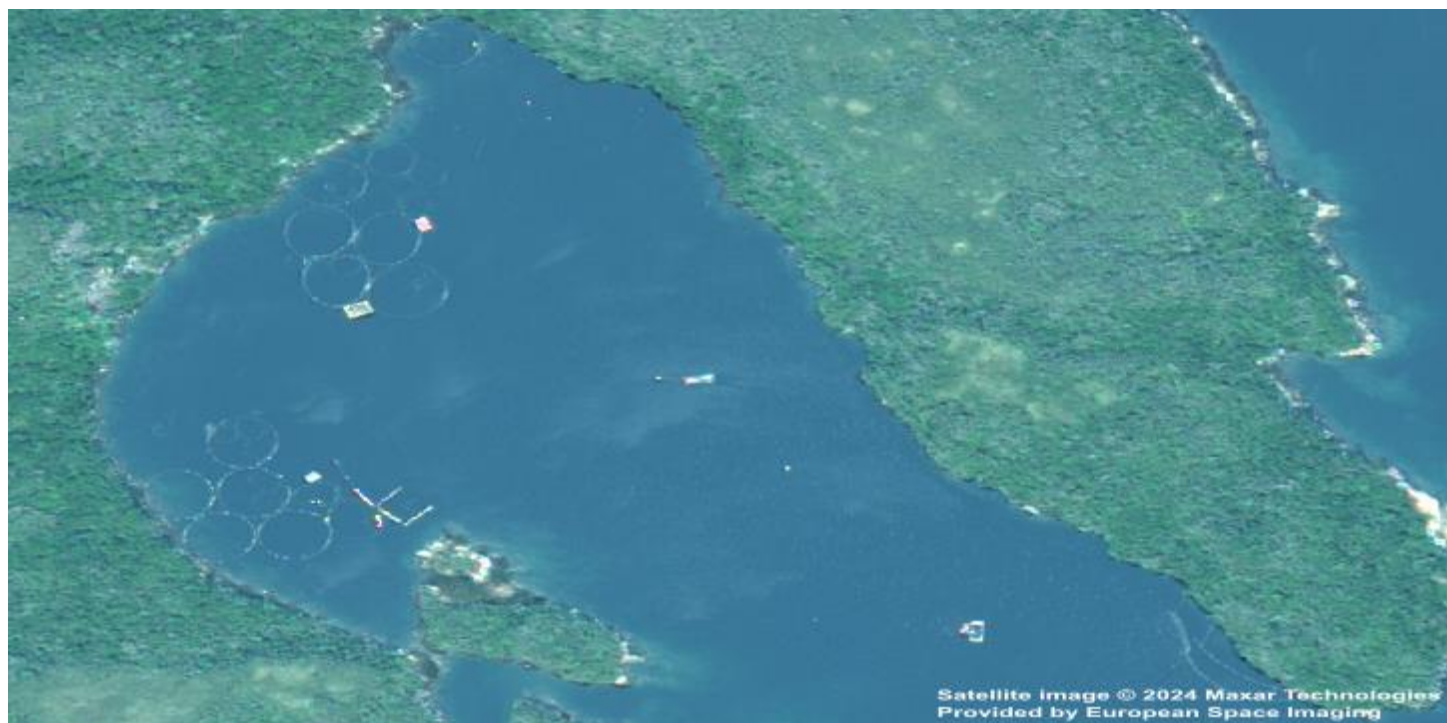

2011 - One sea-cage ring visible

2013 – Three-sea cage rings visible

2015 - 15 sea-cage rings visible

2018 - 25 sea-cage rings visible

2024 - 15 sea-cage rings visible

Disintegration and drift – 2011 to 2015

Satellite images © 2024 Maxar Technologies Provided by European Space Imaging

The following images show the break-up and drift of what appears to be an old, rectangular style sea-cage. This occurred between 2011 and 2015, also in The Locker.

2011

2013

2015

